Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: Regarding claim 1 applicant argues that Kupfer does not teach the antenna arrays having different phase centers; and explains that the antennas in Kupfer have a common phase center. However, Kupfer teaches "In the extended amplitude monopulse process, the subantennas A, B, and Ω should receive the beams within the measurement plane in different direction (squint beams, which have an angle difference only within the measurement plane), and should have a common phase center or an identical phase response the distance between the phase centers has to be very close or almost no distance between the phase centers; which reads on the claimed language of claim 1 "wherein the antenna elements of the array antennas are connected to one another such that a distance between the phase centers of the array antennas included is smaller than half the width of an individual array antenna". Therefore, if the distance is almost zero or cero than that reads on the claim language, which is the case in Kupfer's system as applicant explained.
